Emergency Medicine Residency

UT College of Medicine Chattanooga at Erlanger Baroness Hospital

We train emergency physicians to practice compassionate, evidence-based emergency medicine in any environment, however challenging, from a Level I trauma and tertiary referral center to the smallest critical access ED, and to grow as educators and scholars.

THE PROGRAM

The first emergency medicine residency in the University of Tennessee system. Three-year program, seven residents per class.

PGY-1: EM with trauma surgery, anesthesia and ultrasound, critical care, pediatric EM, and OB/GYN

PGY-2: adult and pediatric EM with pediatric ICU, orthopedics, and EMS

PGY-3: senior EM responsibility with trauma and an elective

Weekly protected conference, monthly journal club, a research curriculum, and on-site AEMUS and EMS fellowships.

HOW TO APPLY

Apply through ResidencyCAS. We participate in the NRMP (program 1689110C0) and in program signaling.
