SYMPOSIUM

SEPTEMBER 14 | MEMPHIS, TN | 8:00 AM – 3:30 PM

WHY SHOULD I ATTEND?

This symposium is for all faculty who are interested in learning more about preparing online, distance, and hybrid courses that result in a quality student experience and student success.

Faculty will walk away with best practices, new ideas and knowledge of how colleagues are using Quality Matters and other generally accepted standards for quality course design.

Showcase faculty courses, hand-on workshops, and affinity group discussions.

Provide an opportunity for faculty across the University of Tennessee system to reflect upon their course design and discuss their experiences with other faculty.

Celebrate and honor faculty who have demonstrated commitment to quality online learning.
